Demographics:

Oregon-Davis Jr.-Sr. High School (ODJSHS) is part of the Oregon-Davis School Corporation, which is located in Hamlet, Indiana in Starke County in the northwest region of the state. Oregon-Davis Jr/Sr High School is a consolidation of Oregon Township and Davis Township which have a combined population of 6,298 people as of the 2010 census. The community is rural with a strong economy in agriculture. There is only one factory in the community. As such, many of our students are from farm families, are active in organizations like 4-H, and we are starting to see an influx of migrant workers attending our school.

The first graduating class at the school was the class of 1964. After the consolidation, grades 9-12 were held in the Grovertown High School Building and grades 7-8 were held at the former Hamlet High School. The Hamlet and Grovertown elementary schools remained separate until the current elementary was built on the same location as the high school in the early 1980s.

The junior-senior high school building opened in the spring of 1971 with its first graduating class that May. The building has been renovated twice with the first renovation beginning in 1999. At this time, additional classrooms were added to the back of both the circles. The second renovation began in the spring of 2010 and was a smaller project enlarging existing classrooms. The architectural design of the high school is two round domes.
